Route to Llanrhidian Village.

You can use public transport to travel to Hill House but it can be difficult and costly.

Travel by rail to Swansea and get the number 115, 116 or 119 bus from the Quadrant Centre. Bus leaves every hour, the journey is about 10 miles and it takes about 45 minutes. The bus stop is at the Esso filling station and you will have to walk down the hill following the directions on the following page.

By road the Gower Peninsula is about a 200 miles / 320 km (3 hours) from London, 152 miles / 247 km (2.5 hours) from Birmingham, 280 miles / 449 km (5 hours) from Dover, 194 miles / 324 km (3.5 hours) from Manchester, 212 miles / 340 km (4 hours) from Plymouth, 61 miles / 94 km (2 hours) from Fishguard, 47 miles / 76 km (1 hour) from Cardiff.

The easiest route is to leave the M4 at Junction 47 to the North of Swansea. On the map it may seem to be a longer route but it's a far easier and quicker than travelling through Swansea.

Travelling from the east at Junction 47 take the second exit off the roundabout onto the A483

Travelling from the West at Junction 47 it's the fourth exit (A483 -Swansea / Gower.)

The dual carriageway climbs to some traffic lights and descends a steep hill to another roundabout

It's a little bit tricky as this roundabout as the first exit is signposted "Gower – Avoiding Low Bridge".

Ignore this sign and take the second exit off the roundabout along the A484 (Llanelli / Gower).

It's a short drive along a single carriage way to the next roundabout and again it's a little bit tricky.

There is a track to a farm shop between the first and second exits off the roundabout

Take the exit after the farm shop entrance (second exit) and continue on the A484 (Llanelli / Gower)

You will see the Burry Estuary in front of you and the north Gower coast is to the left.

The road drops down to another roundabout and you take the first exit along the B4296 (Gower ton)

You pass a Harvesters Restaurant, Gowerton Driving Range and go under a low bridge.

Turn right at the traffic lights immediately after the low bridge.

Continue on through the mini roundabout (Tesco Extra filling station)

Go straight ahead at the next set of traffic lights along the B4295

Continue on the B4295 for approximately 11km (7 miles)
